INVITATION

We invite you to send texts to magazines entitled „Polish Language in Secondary School. Kielce Journals” and „Polish Language in Primary School. Kielce Journals” (Pedagogical Publishing House of the ZNP in Kielce). The topics of the journals will focus on issues related to distance and hybrid learning. The volumes are planned to be published for the school / academic year 2021/2022 (February 2022).

The volumes will cover aspects such as:

- remote and hybrid teaching methods,
- developing communication skills and distance learning,
- remote learning platforms,
- advantages and disadvantages of distance learning,
- distance learning in the context of linguistic and literary issues,
- the role of textbooks in distance learning,
- sample exercises / drafts / scenarios of remote classes.

The above catalog is only a proposal, we are open to presenting topics of articles combining theoretical and practical aspects of distance learning. The main recipients of the journal are teachers, therefore we want to connect science with the professional practice of teachers and apply references to the current requirements of the general education core curriculum for secondary schools. The publishing house provides a symbolic remuneration for the authors of articles.

- We are waiting for the declaration of cooperation until August 1, 2021.
- We are waiting for the articles until October 1, 2021.
- We accept texts in Polish and English.
